

THE WESTMEATH INDEPENDENT

Energy management seminar for local SMEs

BUSINESS owners are being urged to book their place at free seminar in Athlone on Monday, May 13 next to discover how they can increase their energy efficiency, and in turn their bottom line.

The seminars are being operated by Green Business in conjunction with Ibec and BIM (Bord Iascaigh Mhara)

Green Business is a free and confidential resource delivering efficiency improvements and cost savings for SMEs of all sizes through waste prevention and reductions in water and energy consumption.

The Energy Management seminars will help and advise businesses on how to review and manage their energy through smart and inexpensive methods of reducing energy costs.

The events are guaranteed to be very worthwhile investment of management and staff time, and will be addressed by James Hogan of Green Business, Brian Scannell of Musgraves, Conor Molloy of Ecofleet, and Sandra Hennessy of BIM.

The Athlone event takes place in the Athlone Springs Hotel on Monday, May 13.

For further information and to book a place email contactus@greenbusiness.ie or anne.murphy@ibec.ie.